EMBRYOGLUE

What is EmbryoGlue?

EmbryoGlue is an implantation promoting solution that contains a high concentration of a substance called hyaluron that occurs naturally in the Fallopian tubes and the womb.

Why do we use it?

Transferring embryos in EmbryoGlue solution just prior to embryo transfer has been shown to increase pregnancy and live birth rates.

Data from Sun et al., (2010)

Because of the benefits shown by the above study by Sun et al (2010), we have been using EmbryoGlue for all of our embryo transfers as a standard procedure since May 2013.
