MACMILLAN CANCER SUPPORT

NHS University Hospitals Tees

Macmillan Cancer family history service

For patients and families affected by cancer across the Tees Valley.

Who are we?

We provide a comprehensive risk assessment, access to appropriate surveillance, information, support and possible genetic testing to families where necessary.

We also provide health professionals with specialist advice and education. Our team is based at The James Cook University Hospital in Middlesbrough collaborating with the Northern Genetics Service.

Could you benefit from a referral?

- Do you have a first and second degree relative on the same side of the family with a breast or bowel cancer?
- Young Diagnosis?
- Male breast cancer?
- Do you have more than one first degree relative with the same cancer?
- Do you have a known gene fault in the family?
- Multiple primary cancers?
